

Privacy Notice for Customer
JT More Business Partnership

JT More Business Partnership (the "JT") is the developer and owner of a car limousine service (the "Service"). When you sign up for an JT account, you are considered to be Users of JT's services ("Users"), the User acknowledges and understands that the Company would need to process the personally identifiable information (the "PII") of such particular User. Thus, the Company announces this Privacy Notice to notify the User of the rights and obligations as well as the conditions for the collection, use, process and disclosure of the User's PII in performing the Service.

This Privacy Notice is only applicable to the use of the Service and shall not apply to the PII process undertaken by another application or website developed and operated by any other third-party that the Company does not have any control over (the "Third Party") despite being displayed or connected to the Service. The User understands and agrees that the User shall study and agree on the privacy Notice announced by those Third Party that are separated from this Privacy Notice.

If the User does not accept this Privacy Notice and any amendment thereof, the Company reserves the rights to refrain from providing the Service to such User because the PII processing defined hereunder are critical for the provisions of the Services by the Company to the User. By continuing to use the Service, the relevant User shall be deemed to always accept and agree to the Privacy Notice..

The JT may amend or revise this Privacy Notice at any time to assure the compliance with the relevant laws and regulations and to assure the updates in the Service at any time; provided that the JT will communicate the amendments or revisions made to the User and the amendment or revisions shall become effective once being communicated.

PII being Processed by the JT in the performance of the Service

In order to perform the required Services, the JT would need to collect and process the following PII from the User:

- 1 Directly Identifiable PII such as name, age, nationality and date of birth
- 2 Contact information such as address, phone number, and e-mail address
- 3 Payment information such as the payment transaction information, bank account information and credit card information
- 4 Transactional data, such as username - password and logs, transaction number and history that the User transact and use the Service, including the gathered preference and interest from the transactional behavior
- 5 Technical PII such as IP address number, the Service usage information, and web browser status and settings that have been used to connect to the Service.
- 6 Image / Interesting / Sound Record

Objectives for PII Process

- 1 The JT would need to collect, restore and use the PII of the User in order to perform any Services as defined under the terms of service, including without limitation to verify the identity and eligibility of the User; to validate the payment conditions for any Service fee (if any); to monitor the transaction executed by the User; and to contact the relevant User;
- 2 The JT would need to collect and analyze the PII of the User in order to assess the User's interest with an aim to provide customized and personalized Service that would meet the User's interest and preference and to improve the User's experience;
- 3 The JT would need to collect and restore the User's PII in order to provide other support services after the Service delivery such as in the satisfaction survey or the support and complaint redress mechanism;
- 4 The JT may need to collect and restore the User's PII as obliged under the applicable laws and regulations, for instance, for the withholding tax payment purpose.

The JT intends to store the PII of each relevant User for throughout the period of time that the User is still the registered User and for 3 (three) years after the User's termination for the legitimate interest of the JT in the legal proceedings that the JT may have against the relevant User; provided that in case that the relevant laws requires the storage of the PII for the longer period than defined, the JT may need to do so.

Disclosure of the PII

In order to assure the performance of the Service as committed, the JT may need to disclose the User's PII in the following circumstances:

- 1 To disclose the User's PII to the outsourced service providers engaged in the performing any direct support service in the Service performance by the JT to the User, including without limitation the advisors as well as the third party service provider (i.e. logistic service provider); provided that the JT shall only disclose the User's PII strictly on the need to know basis only;
- 2 To disclose the User's PII in the usage of the storage service on Computer System Google Cloud Platform, Amazon AWS, On-premise;
- 3 To disclose the User's PII to third party in the legal proceedings to protect the JT's legitimate rights or to detect and prevent any fraud on the Platform; provided that such disclosure shall be done on the limited and specific purposes as defined only;
- 4 In case that the JT is obliged under the applicable laws, court judgment or administrative order to disclose any PII of any particular users, the JT would need to do so.

What are Cookies that the JT is using in Service Performance?

Cookies are text files stored in the User's computer browser directory or program data subfolder in order to keep data log of the User's internet usage and the User's behavior or interaction when using the Service. For the good performance of the Service, the JT need to use various types of Cookies for various purposes as defined below:

- 1 Functionality Cookies being used to record information about choices the User have made when using the Service such as personal settings, languages, and fonts so this would allows the JT to tailor the Service that would match the User's preference setting;
- 2 Advertising Cookies being used to record the User's on-site behavior and history of the Service used and this would allow the JT to provide the User the Services that suit the User's preferences and to assess the performance of each function of the Service.
- 3 Strictly Necessary Cookies are essential for the User to browse and use the Service and to use its features, such as accessing secure areas of the Service system or interface.

Even though the use of Cookies would enhance the performance in providing Services to the User, the User shall be entitled to disable the Cookies setting on the User's browser at their own will; provided that the User shall acknowledge that the Cookies-disabled setting may impact the efficiency and the performance of the Service as defined in details for each type of Cookies above.

Representation on the Privacy Security

The JT represents and guarantees that the JT shall use the most appropriate security measures to prevent the unauthorized access, amendment or disclosure of the PII in any form or in any circumstance by either internal or external persons and the JT commits to review those measures on the regular basis with the strong commitment to be in strict compliance with the applicable laws.

Data Subject Rights

The JT acknowledges and accepts the User's rights as the data subject over their PII as defined under the applicable laws that include the following rights:

- 1 Right to access; to request for copy; and to rectify or update their own PII;
- 2 Right to request for data portability of the PII that the JT has processed in the readable forms by the tools or automatic mechanics to other data controller;
- 3 Right to object to the PII process being undertaken;
- 4 Right to request for the erasure or de-identification of any PII that does not have any necessary basis to process, i.e. after the consent withdrawal;
- 5 Right to request to suspend the PII processing in case that request for erasure is being exercised or it is unnecessary to process such PII;
- 6 Right to withdraw consent that has been given.

The User can contact the JT in order to make the request to exercise any defined rights through the defined channel without any charge and the JT will consider and notify the User of the JT's determination within 30 days after the receipt of the User's valid request.

Contact Us

Data Processor and Company Data Protection Officer (DPO)

Name: JT More Business Partnership

Address: 509/104 Casaville Village Don Mueang Songprapha, Soi Dechatungka 1, Si Kan, Don Mueang, Bangkok 10210

Contact detail: 093-456-2355

Email address: jt.mbsn@gmail.com